

HYELM – EQUALITY AND DIVERSITY

Policy Statement

It also aims to create environments in which all members of its communities (residents, involved residents, staff, Board members, Members of HYELM, partners, contractors, visitors and others) are able to achieve their full potentials in atmospheres that are free from prejudice, discrimination and harassment. These concepts are embedded in The Group’s culture and practices and form an important strand of its ethos.

- 1.3 The Group is a learning organisation and recognises that it may still have areas where development and improvement is required. Where errors are made these will be addressed and practices reviewed to prevent re-occurrence.

5.0 Risk Factors

- 5.1 The Group takes equality and diversity issues seriously and recognises the risks facing staff, Board Members, Members of HYELM, involved residents, residents and The Group as a whole and will ensure that there is sufficient awareness, planning, action and monitoring to deal with such issues.
- 5.2 Risks to our Involved Residents and Residents:
- A lack of awareness, understanding and respect of diversity amongst our client group can lead to conflict within our services. This threatens each person's right to live peacefully and without fear of discrimination and/or harassment.

- Any form of discrimination or harassment can have a damaging and long-term effect on someone's personal development, health and mental well-being.
- Without an understanding of the diverse needs of the residents within our schemes, The Group would not be adequately meeting our residents' cultural, religious, social and emotional needs, which would affect them in negative ways.
- Barriers would be placed to specific groups of people, resulting in a lack of fair access to services and equal chances to benefit from them.

5.3 Risks to Staff:

- Frontline staff have a particular responsibility in delivering The Group's equality and diversity commitments.
- We expect colleagues to actively and constructively challenge any form of discriminatory behaviour, regardless of their own personal beliefs.
- Failure to do so could result in staff being discriminatory in their practice, therefore being liable to disciplinary action. It is therefore imperative that colleagues are adequately trained and aware of equality and diversity issues and good practice.

5.4 Risks to Board Members:

- Board Members have a particular responsibility in agreeing The Group's equality and diversity strategies and policies and in monitoring their implementation.
- We expect Board Members to actively and constructively challenge any form of discriminatory behaviour, regardless of their own personal beliefs.
- Failure to do so could result in Board Members being discriminatory in their practice, and therefore, being liable to disciplinary or other appropriate action. It is therefore imperative that Board members are adequately trained and aware of equality and diversity issues and good practice.

5.5 Risks to Members of HYELM:

- Members of HYELM have a particular responsibility in ensuring that those who are appointed to The Group's Board fully support and are able, with suitable training, if necessary, to monitor, review and oversee the implementation of The Group's strong approach to equality and diversity.
- We expect Members of Hyelm to actively and constructively challenge any form of discriminatory behaviour, regardless of their own personal beliefs.
- Failure to do so could result in persons or others associated with the organisation being discriminatory in their practice, and therefore, being liable to disciplinary or other appropriate action. It is, therefore, imperative that Members of HYELM are selected and appointed by the Board on the basis that they are fully able to perform this function.

5.6 Risks to The Group:

- As a housing provider The Group has statutory, regulatory and legal duties to meet in its equality and diversity agenda. Failure to do so could result in very damaging outcomes for The Group. For example:
 - Allegations of discrimination could be damaging to our reputation.
 - Failing to meet regulatory and legal requirements could result in loss of contracts and/or funding, which would ultimately lead to the closure of schemes.

6.0 Breaches of the Policy

- ### 6.1
- If you believe that you have been discriminated against or have been the subject of harassment, you are encouraged to raise the matter with us.

- 6.2 Allegations regarding potential breaches of this Policy will be treated in confidence and fully investigated.
- 6.3 People who make such allegations in good faith will not be victimised or treated less favourably as a result.
- 6.4 Any person or body associated with The Group who is found to have committed an act of discrimination or harassment will be subject to disciplinary or other appropriate action. The Group will take a strict approach to serious breaches of this policy.

7.0 Participation Statement

- 7.1 The Group is committed to involving its residents and key stakeholders in how it manages and improves its direct services. Before this Policy is reviewed, we will endeavour to consult and involve our residents and key stakeholders and consider their views. Where possible and where relevant, we will make the necessary changes based on the comments and suggestions that we receive. The Group will also provide feedback to all to let them know how their views have influenced any changes in Policy or procedure.

8.0 Commitment to Review

- 8.1 The Group is committed to continuously improving its practice in the direct work that it does with its residents. We are a learning Group and where we identify that our policies or procedures could be improved, we will change them.
- 8.2 We value and respond to feedback from our residents, partner agencies and all other stakeholders, particularly in relation to good practice. This Policy and any supporting documents will be fully reviewed annually or sooner where any changing legislation has an impact.
